

What is a Surname Study?

It's a scholarly, footnoted study of a surname from a given location or heritage. It explores structural analysis, linguistic and etymological origins, geographic and historical context, derivations, toponymic and patronymic origins, meaning, historical and religious significance, and formation as an hereditary surname. This analysis can fill in blanks, like the specific nationality of the ancestor, migratory pathways, and even probable reasons for emigration from the home country to the destination country.

Rates:

$15 per surname

$100 for eight surnames
